"Cappuccio lemon"

Limone cappuccio is a variety which has been able to make its own way in the last years among the most requested trees, thanks to its skill to produce a big quantity of fruits, even in bunch, and, at the same time, to keep the crown compact, differently from the other lemon's varieties.
The only flaw, if one can say, is that fruits grow up very fast so, the best period to have it with big and colored fruits is from october to january, and then, in april-may.ï
